INTENSIVIST / PULMONOLOGIST
EXPERTISE IN PULMONARY AND CRITICAL CARE MEDICINE

Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine at Brigham and Women’s (BWH) is seeking a physician for an academic clinical position to join a thriving practice in both ICU and pulmonary medicine at the Brigham and Women’s Faulkner Hospital (BWFH). This is a community-based 170 bed hospital serving a diverse and dedicated patient population that is closely affiliated with the main BWH campus, with a 10 bed ICU staffed by advanced practice providers (APPs). The successful candidate will serve as the Medical Director of the ICU at BWFH, will have a robust ambulatory practice, will have a substantial clinical role in the ICU, and will assist with inpatient consults. The candidate will have opportunities for APP teaching and supervision, as well as teaching opportunities with Harvard Medical School students, residents, and fellows. Academic rank as an Instructor to Assistant Professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience and qualifications. Applicants must possess an M.D.
