Radiation Oncologist

MGH Department of Radiation Oncology

The Massachusetts General Hospital Department of Radiation Oncology is seeking to recruit a full-time physician scientist to apply for a faculty position. This physician scientist will be expected to devote 80% of their effort towards research activities with 20% towards clinical activities. The incumbent will enjoy working in a collaborative, multidisciplinary clinical, research, and academic setting with colleagues in the Department and throughout the hospital. The incumbent is expected to obtain external funding that will support 80% of their salary.

Appointment as an Instructor, Assistant Professor, or Associate Professor at the Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training, and achievements in addition to teaching activities. Suitable candidates must have an MD or an MD-PhD and Board Certification in Radiation Oncology.

Interested candidates should send a personal statement with research interest, three potential referees and curriculum vitae to:

Dr. Anthony Zietman
c/o Amanda Maidment, Program Manager
Department of Radiation Oncology
Massachusetts General Hospital
100 Blossom Street, COX 802D
Boston, MA 02114
Electronic submissions to: amaidment@mgh.harvard.edu

We are an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.