The division of Urogynecology at Brigham and Women’s Hospital seeks a Board-Certified or Board-Eligible Obstetrician / Gynecologist and in the subspecialty of Female Pelvic Medicine and Reconstructive Surgery to join our diverse and collaborative hospital-based practice as an Attending Physician. In addition to the Brigham and Women’s Hospital, our practice covers different community and hospital clinics. We are supported with two full time physician assistants who travel to our different clinical sites.

The candidate will report to the division chief and should possess an exceptional work ethic, a spirit of inclusivity and established expertise in all modalities of clinical, diagnostic and surgical skills needed to care for women with pelvic floor disorders. A commitment to interdisciplinary team care of patients is required. A dedication to teaching fellows, residents and medical students is essential, and a strong interest in research is welcome. Call is shared with the other Urogynecology providers. Two weeks a year of attending for the resident gynecology service is also required.

Academic rank as Instructor, Assistant Professor or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training, and achievements. Competitive salary and full benefits are offered. Applicants should currently hold or be able to obtain all necessary licensure in Massachusetts and certifications prior to start date.

For consideration for this position, please send curriculum vitae to:

Nicole Rodriguez, Director of Professional Operations
nrodriguez18@partners.org

We are an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

https://www.partners.org/For-Medical-Professionals/Employment-Conditions.aspx