Brigham and Women’s Hospital is seeking a clinical and academic leader to serve as the Chief of the Division of Cardiac Surgery at the Associate Professor or Professor rank at Harvard Medical School.

In this capacity, the candidate must be a board-certified cardiac surgeon who is particularly qualified in the care of patients with complex cardiac disease, actively involved in research, have demonstrated ability to both build and strengthen cardiac clinical and educational programs, and to foster collaboration across specialties and institutional borders.

The candidate must have well-developed leadership, management and organizational skills; the candidate’s work in the area of cardiovascular surgery must be recognized nationally and internationally as evidenced by publications, leadership roles in scholarly societies, and a regional, national and international patient referral base.

Interested candidates are requested to submit a current CV and letter of interest to:

Raquel Lentnek
c/o Spencer Stuart
277 Park Ave
32nd Floor
New York, NY 10017
Email: rlentnek@spencerstuart.com

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.