ACADEMIC NEUROLOGIST APPOINTMENT
HEADACHE MEDICINE
BRIGHAM AND WOMEN’S HOSPITAL
DEPARTMENT OF NEUROLOGY

Brigham and Women’s Department of Neurology is seeking an academic neurologist with strong clinical interests and expertise in Headache Medicine. The hospital title is Associate Neurologist and academic title of Instructor, Assistant, or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School (HMS) is commensurate with the individual’s experience and accomplishments in the field. This candidate will establish an outpatient clinical practice focused on the diagnosis and treatment of complex Headache in the community hospital setting, including some call/consultation service coverage. There will be a strong emphasis on education of Neurology residents and fellows. To be considered, candidates must have a MA license to practice medicine, have completed an ACGME-accredited residency in Neurology, be board certified or board eligible in Neurology, and fulfilled a fellowship program in Headache Medicine or Pain. Candidates should have a strong record and reputation as a clinician, researcher, and teacher in the field. The individual should also possess exceptional leadership, teamwork, and interpersonal abilities. Additional conditions of employment are provided via this link: https://www.partners.org/For-Medical-Professionals/Employment-Conditions.aspx

For consideration for this position, please send curriculum vitae by March 1, 2019 to:

   Elizabeth W. Loder, MD, MPH
   Chief, Division of Headache Medicine
   Department of Neurology
   Brigham and Women’s Faulkner Hospital
   1153 Centre St Suite 4H
   Jamaica Plain, MA 02130
   Email: ELoder@bwh.harvard.edu

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.