Academic Cardiologist / Cardio-oncology – Division of Cardiovascular Medicine, Department of Medicine, Brigham and Women’s Hospital

The Brigham and Women’s Hospital Division of Cardiovascular Medicine seeks an academic cardio-oncologist. Appointment as Instructor, Assistant Professor, or Associate Professor at the Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training, and achievements, in addition to teaching activities. An extensive research network and facilities are available at Brigham and Women’s Hospital and the Dana Farber Cancer Institute (DFCI).

The successful candidate will develop an academic practice that connects programs at Brigham and Women’s Hospital, DFCI, and their outreach networks. The selected candidate will participate in the ambulatory cardio-oncology and in-patient general cardiology services. He or she will teach and supervise medical students, residents and Cardiology fellows. Leadership opportunities are available depending on experience and interest.

Applicants must be board certified in Internal Medicine and Cardiovascular Diseases. Please send curriculum vitae and a cover letter to: Marcelo F. Di Carli, MD; Attention: Joanne Normandin, Division of Cardiovascular Medicine, Department of Medicine, Brigham and Women’s Hospital, 75 Francis Street, Boston, MA 02115, or via email to: jnormandin@bwh.harvard.edu.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions, or any other characteristic protected by law. Women and minority candidates are particularly encouraged to apply.