Faculty Position
Clinical Nephrologist
Department of Medicine
Massachusetts General Hospital

The Massachusetts General Hospital Department of Medicine is seeking a board certified Nephrology physician.

The applicant will be expected to have broad skills in clinical nephrology, including but not limited to the renal care of hospitalized inpatients, hemodialysis and peritoneal dialysis, and the management of glomerular disease. An active interest in clinical investigation that synergizes with clinical activities is encouraged, but not mandatory.

The applicant is expected to be board certified in Nephrology and have completed an ACGME accredited fellowship in Nephrology. The candidate is expected to meet the highest standards of professionalism and collegiality.

Appointment as an Instructor or Assistant Professor at the Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements in addition to teaching activities. Suitable candidates will have an MD or an MD-PhD, and Board Certification in Internal Medicine.

Although several years of experience would be advantageous, less experienced candidates with exceptional promise will also be considered.

Interested candidates should send a personal statement with research interest, three potential references and Curriculum Vitae to Kat Brock at kbrock2@mgh.harvard.edu

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.
