BRIGHAM AND WOMEN’S HEALTH CARE (BWHC) in Boston, Massachusetts invites applications for the position of Division Chief of Neuro-anesthesiology within the Department of Anesthesiology, Perioperative and Pain Medicine (DAPPM). Candidates should be exemplary leaders, clinicians, teachers and researchers interested in leading a division devoted to promoting and expanding the field of neuro-anesthesiology. It is expected that applicants have an M.D. degree with Board Certification in Anesthesiology and/or their subspecialty.

Candidates must provide evidence of continuing medical education and meet the metrics for an academic appointment at Harvard Medical School (HMS) at the level of instructor, assistant, or associate professor. The successful candidate will work in an academic environment committed to teaching medical students, residents, and fellows. Applications are welcome from candidates with more than seven years of experience post-training with evidence of progressive management responsibilities and leadership in an academic department. Candidates must have a marked record of collaboration and possess the ability to engage a broad base of potential stakeholders to work towards a shared vision.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law. To learn more about requirements for employment at a Partners HealthCare System affiliate, please visit https://www.partners.org/For-Medical-Professionals/Employment-Conditions.aspx

Qualified individuals should submit a cover letter and curriculum vitae to Alice Rocchi at arocchi1@bwh.harvard.edu

The requested materials should be addressed to James P. Rathmell, M.D., Search Committee.