ANESTHESIA, CRITICAL CARE
AND PAIN MEDICINE

Chief, Division of Critical Care Medicine

Massachusetts General Hospital, a major Boston teaching hospital and an affiliate of Harvard Medical School, seeks a Division Chief to lead the Critical Care Division of the Department of Anesthesia, Critical Care and Pain Medicine.

The Division Chief will provide strategic direction and oversight for all critical care clinical practice, education and research.

He/she will partner with leaders in surgery, medicine, neurology and nursing to develop and carry out appropriate patient care plans within their clinical area of responsibility.

The Division Chief must be a role model for clinical scientists and intensivists in training. Therefore, the position requires an outstanding intensivist who is a distinguished leader in critical care medicine and an exemplary teacher, with a background and accomplishments in research. The individual must also have experience in administration, personnel and financial oversight.

Academic credentials should be of sufficient strength to warrant an appointment as an Assistant or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School.

We are an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

Candidates should submit a letter of application and curriculum vitae to:
