Faculty Position
Clinical Nephrologist
Department of Medicine
Massachusetts General Hospital

The Massachusetts General Hospital Department of Medicine is seeking a board certified Nephrology physician.

The applicant will be expected to have broad skills in clinical nephrology, including but not limited to the renal care of hospitalized inpatients, hemodialysis and peritoneal dialysis, and outpatient General Nephrology. There is some flexibility in job description, although we are enthusiastic about recruiting into a Director role in Quality and Safety within the Nephrology Division; the candidate will also be expected to attend on the Inpatient Medical Teaching Service at the MGH.

The applicant is expected to be board certified in Nephrology and have completed an ACGME accredited fellowship in Nephrology. The candidate is expected to meet the highest standards of professionalism and collegiality.

Academic appointment as an Instructor, Assistant Professor or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements in addition to teaching activities. Suitable candidates will have an MD or an MD-PhD, and Board Certification in Internal Medicine.

Although several years of experience would be advantageous, less experienced candidates with exceptional promise will also be considered.

Interested candidates should send a personal statement, three potential references and Curriculum Vitae to Daniela Mancini at dmancini@mgh.harvard.edu

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.
