The Brigham & Women’s Hospital Division of Cardiovascular Medicine is seeking a full-time non-invasive cardiologist to join the established cardiology group at the Brigham and Women’s Faulkner Hospital campus. The selected candidate will assume responsibility for an existing clinical practice, provide inpatient and outpatient consultative services, perform non-invasive testing, attend on the inpatient cardiology service at the main Brigham & Women’s Hospital campus, and have opportunities to teach at Harvard Medical School. Brigham and Women’s Faulkner Hospital, a 171-bed highly regarded community hospital, is located 3 miles from the main Brigham campus and is an integral part of Brigham Healthcare and its training programs.

Candidates for this position must be board certified/eligible in cardiovascular medicine, have a record of providing outstanding clinical care, and possess interest in teaching in a stimulating academic environment. Experience in performing non-invasive cardiac testing, including transesophageal echocardiography, is essential. Academic appointment at the level of Instructor, Assistant professor, or Associate professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience and achievements.

Interested candidates should send CV and a cover letter to Dr. John F. Keaney, Chief of Cardiovascular Medicine, Brigham and Women’s Hospital, 75 Francis Street, Boston, MA 02115 or by email to: jgcdederberg@bwh.harvard.edu.

We are an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, sex, color, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, disability status, gender identity, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law. Women and minority candidates are particularly encouraged to apply.