Faculty Position in Rheumatology

The Massachusetts General Hospital Department of Medicine is seeking a board-certified/eligible Rheumatologist to join the Division of Rheumatology, Allergy and Immunology for a full-time faculty position to provide clinical rheumatology care.

The position will be focused on outpatient care, with a small component of inpatient rheumatology consult service. An interest in one or more of the following areas is desired: community health, clinical scholarship, medical education, musculoskeletal ultrasound, and/or quality and safety. In addition to clinical practice, candidates will have opportunities to participate in education, diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives, and quality improvement initiatives. There will be potential to work at the MGH community health centers, the MGH main campus and MGH Waltham.

Appointment as an Instructor, Assistant or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements in addition to teaching activities.

Interested candidates should send a personal statement, names of three references, and curriculum vitae to Dr. Mark Matza and Dr. Sara Schoenfeld, Co-Clinical Directors of Rheumatology, Massachusetts General Hospital, c/o rheumatologysearch@mgh.harvard.edu.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.
