

Internal Medicine Physician
Mount Auburn Hospital
Cambridge, MA

Mount Auburn Hospital (MAH), a Harvard Medical School teaching hospital in Cambridge, Massachusetts, is seeking an experienced Internal Medicine primary care physician. MAH is dedicated to delivering health care services in a personable, convenient and compassionate manner to the residents of Cambridge, Massachusetts and its surrounding communities. The ideal candidate is an accomplished and experienced clinician educator who is respected for his/her clinical and educational skills. Applicants must have prior experience with residency training in a primary care outpatient setting.

Responsibilities include clinical primary care, practice-based quality improvement, and precepting internal medicine residents in our hospital-based academic practice. The selected physician will receive a faculty appointment as an Instructor, Assistant Professor or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School commensurate with experience and qualifications.

MAH is part of Beth Israel Lahey Health (BILH), a health care system that brings together academic medical centers and teaching, community, and specialty hospitals. BILH's mission is to expand access to great care and advance the science and practice of medicine through groundbreaking research and education.

Qualified applicants are encouraged to apply; all inquiries and applications will be kept in the strictest confidence.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law. We strongly encourage both women and minorities to apply.
