

Brigham and Women's Hospital

Founding Member, Mass General Brigham

Division Chief of Thoracic Anesthesia (Department of Anesthesiology, Perioperative and Pain Medicine)

Brigham and Women's Hospital, a major Boston teaching hospital and affiliate of Harvard Medical School, seeks an outstanding clinical and academic leader to serve as the Division Chief of Thoracic Anesthesia for the Department of Anesthesiology, Perioperative and Pain Medicine. This role will be appointed at Harvard Medical School at the Assistant Professor or Associate Professor rank.

The Division of Thoracic Anesthesia consists of 13 Clinical faculty and has a long-standing history of producing leaders in the field through its fellowship and academic programs. Thoracic services at BWH include lung transplants, pneumonectomies, minimally invasive thoracic surgeries, tracheal resections, and esophagectomies.

The Division Chief of Thoracic Anesthesia will ensure ongoing excellent care of thoracic surgical and interventional pulmonary patients, both in personal clinical practice and in supervision of the clinical care provided by the overall Division. The Division Chief will provide strong mentorship and support for both the quality and growth of research and academic endeavors for the Division's faculty and promote high quality clinical education of medical students, residents, and clinical thoracic anesthesiology fellows participating in the Division's clinical rotations. Further, the Division Chief will innovate plans for clinical and academic growth, while providing oversight for the thoracic service in a vibrant and growing hospital network.

Successful candidates will have an established track record of leadership and excellence in clinical medicine, medical education, and research. Fellowship training in adult cardiothoracic anesthesia or thoracic anesthesia is required.

Candidates must be Board Certified and able to obtain a license to practice in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Candidates should submit a letter of interest and Curriculum Vitae to:

Raquel Bartz, MD, MMCi, MHA, Associate Chair of Critical Care Medicine, rbartz@bwh.harvard.edu

with cc to: Courtney Barbeau, Executive Assistant, cbarbeau@bwh.harvard.edu

We are an equal opportunity employer, and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by the law.

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL
TEACHING HOSPITAL