

MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL

Faculty Position Attending Physician
Massachusetts General Hospital
Department of Medicine
Division of Infectious Diseases

The Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) Division of Infectious Diseases, Harvard Medical School, is seeking clinical faculty member/s interested in a career as an academic clinician educator.

The position is for an Attending Infectious Diseases physician who will provide care in the ambulatory clinic and inpatient consultative service. The successful candidate will have clinical training and experience in Infectious Diseases in the acute care hospital and ambulatory care setting. The physician will care for patients with various infectious diseases while focusing on one or more areas of need, including mycobacterial infections, orthopedic infections, and infections in people who use substances.

The MGH Division of Infectious Diseases is committed to building a diverse team trained to deliver equitable, high-quality care. We seek candidates with a clear commitment to diversity and inclusion, multidisciplinary collaborative care, and education and mentorship of trainees. Although several years of experience would be advantageous, less experienced candidates with exceptional clinical and academic potential will also be considered. We strongly encourage applications from candidates who value diversity, inclusion, and health equity.

Candidates must meet the requirements for appointment at the rank of Instructor, Assistant Professor, or Associate Professor of Medicine at the Harvard Medical School with experience, training, and achievements in addition to teaching activities. Suitable candidates will have a Doctor of Medicine degree and be either board-certified or eligible in Infectious Diseases.

Interested candidates should send a personal statement, including academic interest, and Curriculum Vitae to Sue Clifford, Administrative Director, Division of Infectious Diseases: sclifford@mgh.harvard.edu.

We are an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL
TEACHING HOSPITAL