

Surgical Oncologist
Department of Surgery
Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center
Boston, MA

The Department of Surgery at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center (BIDMC), is seeking a board certified/eligible, fellowship-trained, academic surgical oncologist. The successful applicant will have demonstrated strong clinical capabilities in managing melanoma, including wide local excision, sentinel lymph node biopsy, regional lymphadenectomy, and a thorough knowledge of current immunotherapy and chemotherapy modalities. Experience in regional limb perfusion is preferred. A demonstrated aptitude for multidisciplinary collaboration is critical. The position may include the management of sarcoma, depending on applicant interest and training. Responsibilities will include teaching of medical students and surgery residents, clinical and/or basic research, as well as patient care. Both experienced candidates and new fellowship graduates with exceptional promise will be considered. Appointment as Instructor, Assistant or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements in addition to teaching activities. Applicants from communities traditionally underrepresented in medicine are welcome.

Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center, a 743-bed hospital and Level 1 Trauma Center, is a founding member of Beth Israel Lahey Health, a health care system that brings together academic medical centers and teaching hospitals, community and specialty hospitals, more than 4,000 physicians and 35,000 employees in a shared mission to expand access to great care and advance the science and practice of medicine through groundbreaking research and education.
