

Advanced Heart Failure Cardiology Physician

The Division of Cardiovascular Medicine in the Department of Medicine at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center (BIDMC) is seeking candidates for a full-time academic faculty position in advanced heart failure and transplantation cardiology to develop a busy and carried consultative practice. All applicants must be board certified or eligible in Cardiology, as well as eligible for Commonwealth of Massachusetts medical licensure. An academic teaching appointment at the level of Instructor, Assistant, or Associate Professor at Harvard Medical School (HMS) will be commensurate with experience.

Responsibilities will include outpatient consultations on the main campus of BIDMC and possibly one its community sites, as well as attending on the cardiology inpatient or consult services and the Cardiac Direct Access Center. The applicant is expected to be actively engaged in teaching fellows, residents and medical students. This is an excellent opportunity for a candidate seeking to develop an academic career in consultative cardiology within a quaternary referral center model.

This role is an employment model position in the Harvard Medical Faculty Physicians at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center, Inc. (HMFP). Please apply online at www.hmfphysicians.org to requisition #R0270. If submitting a cover letter, please upload it as one document with your current curriculum vitae. Cover letters may be addressed to Robert E. Gerszten, MD, Chief, Cardiovascular Medicine Division and A. Reshad Garan, MD, Director, Advanced Heart Failure and Mechanical Circulatory Support.

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, gender identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law.