

Data Scientist

About Brigham and Women's Hospital:

Brigham and Women's Hospital, world-renowned in virtually every area of adult medicine, is a 777 bed teaching hospital of Harvard Medical School. Consistently ranked by U.S. News & World Report as one of America's Best Hospitals, Brigham and Women's leadership in state-of-the-art-treatments and technologies, patient- and family-focused care, patient quality and safety, and biomedical breakthroughs have improved the health of people around the world.

Job Description

Brigham and Women's Hospital's Division of General Internal Medicine and Primary Care is recruiting for a data scientist. The position will include 75-80% protected time for research, with the remainder of effort in applied research.

This position involves supervision and teaching of research fellows and trainees in the lab, and the successful candidate will also engage in teaching students, housestaff, and fellows in the clinic or inpatient settings. To satisfy Harvard Medical School requirements, the teaching responsibilities will be a minimum of 50 hours annually.

Academic rank as Instructor or Assistant Professor at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements.

Send letter of interest, CV, and the names of three potential referees (with subject line) "Academic General Internist or Informatician" to:

David Bates, MD
General Medicine Division
Brigham and Women's Hospital
1620 Tremont St, BC3-2M
Boston, MA, 02120-1613
Email: dbates@bwh.harvard.edu

(Please note: Brigham and Women's Hospital (not Harvard Medical School) is the employer for the purposes of this position.)

We are an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, pregnancy and pregnancy-related conditions or any other characteristic protected by law. Women and underrepresented in medicine (URiM) candidates are particularly encouraged to apply.

