

Brigham and Women's Hospital, Department of Radiology
INTERVENTIONAL RADIOLOGIST

The Division of Interventional Radiology at Brigham and Women's Hospital and Harvard Medical School is seeking an ABR-certified Interventional Radiologist to join our faculty at the Instructor, Assistant Professor or Associate Professor level. Current IR/DR certificate holders are eligible. The Division supports a full range of vascular and non-vascular interventions at our hospital-based practice and ambulatory clinics. The Division has outstanding state-of-the-art procedure rooms, outpatient clinic facilities and administrative space. Faculty provide supervision and mentorship for trainees in our ACGME-accredited IR/DR residency programs. Faculty have protected academic and clinic time and are offered a competitive salary and a generous benefit package.

Located in the thriving Boston metropolis, the Department of Radiology at Brigham and Women's Hospital is a member of Mass General Brigham Integrated Healthcare system, comprised of 2 renowned academic medical centers and 10 specialty and community hospitals. It has connections to biotech and the broad scientific community within Harvard Medical School and MIT, providing ample opportunities for innovative research and teaching. Additional benefits to living in this vibrant, resourceful and culture-rich environment include excellent public-school systems, easy access to both the ocean and the mountains, and at-home workstations to support work-life balance. The department has a robust education and research portfolio including 42 residents and 65 subspecialty fellows. In addition, the department offers 20% protected research/education time (one day per week).
