

Suggested Resources for Targeting Diverse Candidates GUIDE

The list below is not meant to be comprehensive

In addition to placing a national advertisement in at least one journal for 30 days, we strongly recommend also placing ads in locations that target women and minorities underrepresented in medicine. The following list is intended to support search committees in publicizing open position(s) to the broadest possible applicant pool.

The sites listed below have publicly available job boards for posting positions. The cost varies for each site and some are free.

Advertisements for any position should be sent to the OFA for approval. Please submit search requests via the Faculty Search Portal (affiliate) or ARleS (Quad). For questions related to searches please email FacultySearchPortal@hms.harvard.edu.
